Increased productivity with process solution from Prevas

Prevas is delivering a new process solution to Carlsberg's facility in Ramlösa. The new solution will be implemented during the spring of 2017. The order is valued at approximately SEK 14 million.

Prevas is conducting a turnkey project for enhanced automated processing. This is a comprehensive undertaking that encompasses construction, process engineering, automation and installation. Our focus is on improving and expanding our customers' processing facilities for increased productivity and quality.

In Ramlösa just outside of Helsingborg, only natural mineral water is bottled and canned, directly from the spring. Each year bottles and cans are filled with Ramlösa Original, Ramlösa Citris, Ramlösa Mango and many other flavors – in total about 90 million liters of mineral water.

"Prevas has many years of experience and solid expertise in processing and automation, and can provide complete turnkey solutions," says Henric Persson, Prevas sales manager in Malmö. "In carrying out our assignments, we always choose the solution that best suits our customers' needs. We're very proud that Carlsberg continues to turn to us for help in further developing their operations."

Prevas increases the quality and productivity of customers' products and production facilities, at the same time as we ensure that the opportunities of new technologies and digitalization are exploited. Rapid digitalizing along with industries' continuous strivings for increased productivity and new smart products are constantly producing new business opportunities regardless of the market conditions. Prevas has built up an extensive bank of expertise and has substantial experience in areas such as the Internet of Things and Industry 4.0, with a service portfolio that includes everything from smart service, cloud data analysis and connected sensors to development of new business models and internal processes.
